

Internet As An Essential Service - What Does That Really Mean?

The CRTC has declared the Internet as an essential service, finally. This, conceptually, is easy to comprehend in large urban centres, but what does this mean and what does it look like outside of those centres? What burden does this place on the little guys? A discussion on the realities of service outside the easy to serve regions and pain points in trying to serve those regions.